Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from History as a Teacher of Social and Political Science: An Address At the urgent solicitation of those at whose invitation it was delivered, and of warmly attached personal friends and former pupils of the author, a copy of this magnificent Historical Lecture has been kindly furnished for publication. It was delivered, in the city of Springfield, in the 3d Presbyterian Church, on Wednesday Evening, February 16th, 1870, in response to a very cordial invitation from the Governor and State Officers, and from the President and members of the Convention then assembled at the Capital to frame a New Constitution for the State of Illinois. It was generally known that Dr. Post had profoundly studied the philosophy, methods, and uses of History and historical research; that he regarded a knowledge of the teachings and warnings of History as eminently useful and necessary, especially for American Statesmen and Scholars; and that his reputation as a lecturer upon those and kindred themes, was acknowledged and pronounced throughout the West. The occasion of revising and reconstructing the organic law of a great commonwealth, seemed especially appropriate for a discourse by such a man, upon such a subject. The audience would be largely composed of the distinguished gentlemen who were then in council, from every part of the State, for the purpose of laying anew the foundations of civil government in Illinois; and it would be thought, that the light and lessons of History should be held up to the view of those who were themselves making history. How grandly and graphically this was done, the lecture itself will show. For sublimity of conception; range and sweep...
